Our history of breaking new ground

1981

Carol Clark founds DPEC, a pioneer company in computer-based training

1996

DPEC becomes the first major elearning developer to offer courses over the Internet

2000

DPEC changes its name to MindLeaders, offering a complete suite of business, software and career skills utilizing Flash, audio and video

2004

MindLeaders introduces the industry's only Personal Learning Service and Learning Advisors

2007

MindLeaders merges with ThirdForce, an elearning company in Ireland and the United Kingdom, to create a global organization with a deep catalog of courses and services

MindLeaders offers

- Over 3,000 courses on topics from software skills to leadership, from workplace and food safety to programming and network administration. We present expert, dynamic content while maintaining a consistent, easy-to-use interface across all the courses.
- The MindLeaders Central learning platform that brings all learning tools, administration, and detailed reporting into one spot.
- A top-rated Professional Services department and a jam-packed Resource Center to work with and equip training administrators to make the most of their MindLeaders products.
- An online Reference Library of over 1,000 electronic books. These books include best-sellers in both technical and business topics, and are available in their entirety.
- The MindLeaders Personal Learning Service (PLuS), which provides Learning Advisors to work with students individually to match them with the courses and other learning resources that most directly help their organizations' business goals and their career objectives.
- Online access 24/7 to course subject matter experts via Instant Mentoring.
- The MindLeaders Create service that integrates other training materials into MindLeaders Central, offering one-stop access to all training (online and instructor-led).
